

The Center for Inter-American Relations cordially invites you to a Film Evening and Lecture in conjunction with our current exhibition

"A Century of Venezuelan Landscape Painting: 1845-1945"

FILM SHOWING - FOUR VENEZUELAN ARTISTS
Tuesday, March 27th, 6:00 P.M.

Films:

SOTO - A retrospective view of Venezuelan kinetic artist J.R. Soto. Co-production with INCIBA (CINE's Golden Eagle). Directed by Angel Hurtado. English narration by William D. Clark and Herbert Morales, 15 min.

VIBRANT MIRROR OF THE SUN - A kinetic work by Venezuelan artist, Alejandro Otero. Directed by Carlo Cosmi. English narration by William D. Clark, 10 min.

POLEO AND POETIC CONFIGURATION - Life and works of the renowned Venezuelan painter. Directed by Angel Hurtado. English narration by Roger Wilkison, 28 min.

EL TALLER MAGICO DE REVERON (The Magic Studio of Reveron) - The life and art of Armando Reveron in his studio. Directed by Angel Hurtado. Text by Juan Calcadilla, music by Luis Cubillaza. In Spanish, 23 min.

All films produced by the Technical Unit of Visual Arts, Museum of Modern Art of Latin America, Organization of American States, Washington, D.C. Films courtesy of the Museum of Modern Art of Latin America, O.A.S.

TRADITIONS IN VENEZUELAN LANDSCAPE PAINTING: 1845-1945

Lecture by Dr. Stanton L. Catlin
Monday, April 2nd, 5:30 P.M.

Dr. Stanton L. Catlin is a Professor of Art and Director of Exhibitions at the Emily Löwe Art Gallery at Syracuse University. Dr. Catlin has long been a devotee of Latin American art. He is the former director of the gallery at the Center for Inter-American Relations. He is the co-author of Latin American Art Since Independence. He has participated in the organization of many exhibitions of Latin American and American art, including, "Pissarro in Venezuela", held at the Center in 1968. He has published articles in Art Gallery, Art in America and the New York Times. His most recent article was "Costumbristas, Humboldt to Reveron" in Art Gallery, June, July, 1977.

All events at 680 Park Avenue, at 68th Street
RSVP: 249-8950 ext. 750